The Fundamental Principle of Life Assurance

is protection for the family.
Unfortunately, however, the beneficiaries of life assurance are often deprived of the provision made for them, through the loss of the principal, by following bad advice regarding its investment.

Under the Tontine Installment Policy of

The Equitable Life

you are provided with an absolute safeguard against such misfortune, besides securing a much larger amount of in-

If God dwells in us, let us make the

A man loses his power when he loses his temper.

If you are a gentleman you will never find it necessary to say so.

A man does more toward making fate than fate does toward making him.

fit any church door on earth.

Don't look at the Bible through your creed, but look at your creed through the Bible.

Love is the central, deepest, highest thing in life. Muscle and brain are only its servants.

The firmest friendships have been formed in mutual adversity, as iron is most strongly united by the fiercest flame.

The man who will twist the truth to get a chance to say a smart thing lacks much of being the highest kind of a Christian.

There are many avenues along which Satan may enter into the human heart, and he is perfectly familiar with them all.

To seek responsibilities is foolishness; to shirk them when they come in the order of Providence is cowardice.

It does not suffice that a man should have a cause at heart; he must also have it more or less at head.

A loud hallooing shout does not glorify God half so much as a quiet smile bestowed upon some unfortunate one.

The best lighted streets are traveled the most. Wear a smile if you want to be useful.

Suffering becomes beautiful when any one bears great calamities with cheerfulness, not through insensibility, but through greatness of mind.

Those who are today for you will, perhaps, be against you tomorrow. On the other hand, you may have as friends those who now hate you, for men change like the wind.

Invite good thoughts and welcome them when they come. They are visitors that will leave a blessing behind them when they have departed.

When John Wesley was in Glasgow he is reported to have said: "The people hear much, know nothing, and feel nothing." This is true of many persons in other cities today.

We must increase our talents, enlarge our graces, shoot up its tallness, grow up to this stature. For God's family admits no dwarfs; stunted profession was never sound.

Christian love feeds on liberality as well as on devotion. The highest points in Christian experience are more often gained by giving than by prayer. "As ye have freely received freely give." "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Ponder these thoughts, brother.

-She-"O, my tooth aches just dreadfully! I don't see why we cannot be born without teeth." He-"I think, my dear, that if you will look up some authority on that point, you will find that most of us are."

The Spirit, the Word and the Work.

Without the Son, himself hath said,
"We nothing good can do."

For such, he is the "living bread,"
"The life" divine and true.

Without his spirit from above
We only serve with fear.

The spirit giveth grace and love,
And courage, strength and cheer.

Without his word our own are vain
The world's deep wants to reach;

His wisdom in our minds must reign,
If we would teach or preach.

So by his spirit, and his word,
The "masses" may be won.

When Christ in human speech is heard And Christlike work is done.
